

Live out the gospel

Chris Michaelis
Member of Calvary Lutheran Church, Richland Hills, Texas
Master of divinity student, Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago (LSTC)

“Connecting the gospel to what we do matters a great deal in the Northern Texas/Northern Louisiana Mission Area,” Chris Michaelis says. “People want to know why our faith matters. LSTC is uniquely positioned to address that by offering many great opportunities to live out the gospel.”

Growing up in a suburban area, Chris was aware of social justice issues. But living and studying in Chicago is making them part of Chris’ calling.

“Being confronted by the realities of society in Chicago—you struggle with that. You see the whole spectrum here, from people living under a bridge to the extravagant wealth of downtown Chicago. It makes me wonder how the church can address the very real gap between both ends of the spectrum.”

When he graduates, Chris wants to return to Texas and connect what he’s learning with his suburban roots.

At LSTC, tuition covers only 1/3 of the cost of seminary education. Help educate a seminary student like Chris by sending a gift to:

NT-NL Missionary Area Seminary Appeal
P.O. Box 560587
Dallas, TX 75356

Your gift will be shared by LSTC, Wartburg Theological Seminary, and the Lutheran Seminary Program in the Southwest.
