

Amy Walter-Peterson serves as coordinator of the ELCA Coaching Ministry and co-pastor of Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Fairport, NY. She graduated in 2003 from Pacific Lutheran Theological Seminary, Berkeley, CA and since her ordination has served in a variety of roles in congregations and ministries, on a synod staff, and within the churchwide organization. She has worked as consultant, coach, and facilitator with congregations, ministries, and leaders in the areas of vision and mission planning, goal setting and board development. Amy enjoys collaborative work environments that foster and develop leadership capacity.

Amy lives in Geneva, NY with her spouse, Hans, and enjoys traveling, cooking, and entertaining family and friends. Since 2007, Amy has spent a portion of most summers teaching English and living in community at St. Leo's Coptic Catholic Seminary in Cairo, Egypt.
